The Okonkwo Family

Wishing you a joyful Kwanzaa filled with unity, creativity, and love.

May the seven principles light your path in the coming year.

This year the Okonkwos welcomed a new chapter as Emeka completed his doctorate and the family relocated to a beautiful home with a backyard garden. Adaeze launched her catering business and kept everyone well-fed through every milestone. Chidi made the honor roll, Ngozi won a regional art competition, and little Tobenna lost his first tooth — — twice.
